

FINE ARTS RESOURCES

The District Board of Trustees of Central Florida Community College which owns and operates the Appleton Museum of Art (hereinafter referred to as Appleton Museum) is frequently asked for information regarding fine art-related resources. The Appleton Museum has compiled the following list of such resources. The Appleton Museum does not warrant the accuracy of this list, the quality of the goods or services provided by the listed vendors or the fitness of those goods and services for any purpose whatsoever. The Appleton Museum does not recommend the individual, organization or business which appear on the list for any purpose whatsoever. The fact that an individual or business appears on the list does not mean that the Appleton Museum has utilized its services or purchased its goods or, if it has done so, that it has been satisfied with those services or goods. This list of resources is not intended to be inclusive, and the Appleton Museum welcomes additional information to be included in the next edition of this list.
